

The East Anglia Region celebrates 71 years of the NHS with Special Guests Matt Hancock Secretary of State for Health and Social Care and Steve Dunn CEO for West Suffolk NHS Foundation Trust

The East Anglia Region of the NHS Retirement Fellowship (Norwich, Peterborough, Cambridge and West Suffolk branches) were delighted to welcome not one, but two special guests to their celebration of 71 years of the NHS at Ashlar House on 5th July.

Secretary of State for Health and Social Care, and MP for West Suffolk, Matt Hancock and Steve Dunn CEO of West Suffolk NHS Foundation Trust joined members at their afternoon tea

Matt Hancock spent time talking to many of the members and afterwards said:

“ The NHS Retirement Fellowship has been going for 41 years and is a wonderful organisation providing a social, educational and welfare service for anyone who has retired from the NHS or social care.

I am very impressed with the organisation and would encourage all NHS employers to encourage their employees to join when they retire”

We very much appreciate his support and interest and the members were delighted that both Matt Hancock and Steve Dunn made time in their busy schedules to visit and talk to them and to learn more about the NHSRF and the pleasure and support they gain from it.

The meeting also welcomed representatives of the Blood Runners Charity to whom the proceeds of the raffle were donated.
